Welcome to Real Estate Trend Alert (RETA)

As part of the Escape America Action Plan, you're getting a 6-month trial subscription to Ronan McMahon's RETA—you can check out your members' site here.

You also get access to two live overseas real estate opportunities on RETA's books—full details below.

Whether you're a seasoned real estate investor looking to diversify your portfolio, or you're simply interested in learning more about buying a home overseas, you'll find your RETA membership an invaluable source of tools and education.

Over the years, Ronan has developed a worldwide network of insiders who keep him abreast of the ever-changing world of international real estate investing. But more importantly, he's constantly on the road investigating markets himself...

As a result, Real Estate Trend Alert members have been reaping the rewards. For example:

- There's Alicia Lewandowsky, who used her real estate investment to make $40,000 in "income for retirement," she said.
- And Lisa Gunderson, who saw her real estate appreciate by about $120,000 in the last few years.
- Then there's Alan Davis, whose Brazilian property appreciated by $260,352 in two years.

What's unique about Ronan's service is that he does all of the leg-work... and picks out only the most potentially profitable opportunities that he comes across. He casts his well-informed eye over about 200 possible deals for every one he recommends to his Real Estate Trend Alert members.

Not only that, but RETA members also receive Flash Alerts. These are one-off opportunities that come across Ronan's desk that he thinks would be of interest to members. It might be an extraordinary value on a re-sale lot on the Pacific coast someplace, for instance. For this small group of profit-minded folks, it's just the sort of inside-track opportunity that's right on the mark.

Check out the link above, so you can see for yourself how valuable your Real Estate Trend Alert membership is.

Ronan McMahon

There are many so-called real estate “experts” out there, but few have the track record Ronan and his Real Estate Trend Alert service have. Ronan has been an active real estate investor since his early 20s. He’s an international dealmaker. Some folks call him a profit hunter.

One of Ronan’s biggest strengths is identifying markets that are due for an upswing in values but where other investors aren’t even looking yet. He’s called it right many times: Like the year 2000 in Ireland, ahead of what became known as the Celtic Tiger, a period of unrivaled and historic economic growth for the country and its real estate market. He called it again in Panama, in 2004, when he predicted that values in Panama City were about to spiral quickly. He did it in Northeast Brazil, in 2008, when the market was on the precipice of a huge rise in values.

And he was ahead of the big growth in Tulum on Mexico’s Riviera Maya, in 2009, when few investors had gotten in.

Ronan also knows how to spot the right crisis market where a buyer can get in cheap now but profit as values return to where they should be... or even exceed that. He knows how to wait for the right “trigger moment” to play a crisis market. He did that in Ireland, when the 2008 crash eventually led to fire-sale auctions in 2011. He repeated his success in Spain and Portugal when bank fire sales popped up in 2013. He acted again in Cabo, Mexico, in 2015, when a rare convergence of circumstances meant you could lock down a luxury home for a fraction of its true worth. In each of those cases, a buyer who followed his recommendation could have doubled their money or more.
